AMS helps higher education institutions fulfill their mission

Delivering educational excellence requires a robust academic foundation, along with strong financial accounting and reporting systems to support the organizational mission.

Accounting Management Solutions, the leading accounting and financial management services firm in the Northeast, helps by providing seasoned accounting and financial management professionals.

“The work that AMS did made a huge difference. Our board members say the improvement is like day and night: they now get the information they need to understand how the college is doing.”

Daniel Lehmann
President
Hebrew College

Serving on an interim, ongoing, or project basis, AMS consultants employ current best practices to ensure that senior managers and their boards understand their financial condition so they can plan for the future. Since AMS professionals are highly experienced, they're immediately productive, delivering a cost-effective solution.

AMS is not a temporary employment agency. When you engage us, you work with the same individuals week after week, month after month, for as long as needed. Our consultants get to know your business and become part of your team. It's why our clients say, "AMS people make the difference."

We're ready when you need us — now

Institutions such as Northeastern University, College of the Holy Cross, Brandeis University, University of New Haven, and Harvard University Division of Continuing Education, among others, have relied on AMS to assist on a number of critical fronts. They include:

Interim financial management — Our VPs of Finance, CFOs, controllers, and accounting managers work side by side with clients to maintain key financial functions, help during periods of transition, or develop new systems.

Endowment accounting — AMS supports endowment management by establishing accounting procedures and implementing systems to track gifts, identify restrictions, and reconcile endowment accounts.

Internal process improvement — We assist with a wide range of projects – from documenting policies and procedures and updating the chart of accounts to preparing organizations for audit and developing financial plans. We work with clients over the short, medium, or long term.
